

Little Social Activists

COVA is providing a platform for the students to know about their social responsibilities apart from the school curriculum. Recently COVA has organized a Project Display program in which more than 40 schools have participated. Students have worked on various social issues. On the given topics students have to do the research and prepare a project report and present it in the exhibition. Students have to do the field work and meet the concerned officers to collect information. Students have done wonderful work.

This is one of the successful story. In 2012, Abdul Basith (presently studying in X class in Vidiya Daiyni Model High School, Santoshnagar, Hyd.) has done a project Air Pollution on Yaqtupura – Dabeerpura Nala and proposed a solution to cover that nala and utilize that for Road as there is congested road which is going from Yaqtupura to Dabeer pura. Now the authorities implementing that proposal and road work is going on. (Ref. Young World, The Hindu, 27 Feb 2012)

Samreen Banu – Student of IX class from Neo School Aizza, did a project on ‘Citizen’s Charter’ . It is a unique topic. Almost 90% citizens are not aware of this topic. They don’t know what is Citizen’s Charter and how it is beneficial for them. This girl shows lot of interest in this topic and went to various departments to know more about this topic. It is necessary that we should create awareness among the citizens about this as very very less people know about Citizen’s Charter.

Azmath Unnisa and Mariya Siddiqua of VIII class Imam Baksh Memorial High School, did a successful research work on “Speed Driving” project. They met several Traffic Policemen. They figured out that speed and cadence sensors are being used in the bikes in Delhi. She wants these sensors to be used in the bikes in Hyderabad as well. They want to suggest “Automatic Speed Control Design” in four wheelers. The Vehicle should move with a designated speed on all the highways to avoid fatal accidents.
